

We're Getting "FIT:" Faculty and Industry Talking

Environmental Sustainability: Public Policy

January 21, 2010
12:00 – 2:00 PM
Corporate College East

Faculty from Northeast Ohio colleges and universities with an interest in environmental sustainability are invited to have a timely and industry-specific discussion with the private sector about current trends, work force needs and public policy related to environmental sustainability.

More and more of your students will join the green collar work force upon graduation, and those that don't will unavoidably be expected to understand the basic principles of sustainability and how it impacts their organization's triple bottom line of people, profits, and environmental impact.

Local business and policy leaders with a vested interest in a work force well-versed in environmental sustainability would like to share with you what they see at work every day and discuss what they look for in the talent they hire.

Moderated by:

Holly Harlan, Founder
Entrepreneurs for Sustainability

Note: there is no cost to attend this invitation-only small group luncheon; we do request, however, that you only RSVP if you are certain you will attend.

To register, email Halley Marsh at hmarsh@noche.org

Supported by
CLEVELAND
Foundation

Questions? Contact Halley Marsh at hmarsh@noche.org or 216.420.9200 x234.